Today, I'm going to talk about my older sister Ayako. She is three years older than I. She has a wonderful dream. She has wanted to be a writer since she was a child. When she was ten, her classmates gave her a book at her birthday party. My sister was moved by the story, and she found out that the writer's name was also "Ayako." She thought, "I want to be like her."

Then she started to write stories herself. She has already written about thirty stories. Of course, I've read all of them. I believe her stories are getting better and better. These days, I don't have to buy books because I really enjoy reading my sister's stories. I think she has already become a great writer! 繰り返します。
